Trees

I think that I shall never see a poem overy as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the sweet earth's flowing breast;
A tree that looks at Gods all day, and lift her leafy arm to pary;
A tree that may in summer wear, a nest of robin in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain; Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me, But only God can make a tree.
